

Letting the Tories back in because you don't like Jeremy Corbyn is like burning down your house because you don't like the curtains.

